

JUNIOR TRAINERS 2012

Our Junior Trainers were Kristen O., Emilie B., Brielle B., Taylor Forster, Karen Larsen, Kelli Kalikas, Dawn Bryan, and Emilyann Gachko. Even though they are not all in the following photos they were all a great help this year.

"Training" methods that rely on bullying or fear will absolutely not work with these horses under any circumstances. Once a wild horse has learned that they must protect themselves from humans, it is very challenging for the animal to overcome and learn to trust. Creating a bond with a wild horse is essential for successful wild horse adoption. Once they trust you, these horses become bonded to you and will do anything for you. Adopt a wild horse for the thrill of this amazing experience, not to conquer the animal.
